

NOMINATING CRITERIA: ContractingBusiness.com Commercial Refrigeration

Contractor of the Year

Consistently demonstrates a commitment to quality installation, service, industry involvement, and customer relations

Is on the cutting edge of the latest technology

Upholds the highest standards of training and employee skill, and employee presentation and character.

Is an established company, with a proven track record of at least 10 years of consistent growth, with a solid financial base from which to grow into the future

Is active in industry associations, and poised to explore new opportunities to succeed in the marketplace, and present a good career path to its talented employees.

Will be willing to share his or her expertise with the industry by contributing as an editorial advisor (minimal time required) and agree to an on-site visit by a Contracting Business editor to qualify company.

The award will be presented during the Refrigeration Service Engineers Society (RSES) 2014 annual meeting. The winner is asked to be present to accept the award.

Send nominations that address the above criteria, to Terry McIver, executive editor, at tmciver@penton.com.